

Yvonne Bowyer

Speaker for your next live or virtual event

Yvonne is a top graduating MBA and certified member of the Australian Human Resources Institute and graduate of the Australian Institute of Company Directors. This is her third career. Combining 20 plus years of leadership experience with what she calls a healthy obsession with interrupting personal and organisational biases to progress workplace diversity & inclusion.

Yvonne applies the research backed Bias-Habit-Breaking Intervention from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Why? Because it works. Understanding bias as a habit of mind that can be broken, generates acceptance by participants of their vulnerability to bias despite their best intentions. This creates a willingness to confront the harmful consequences of bias. In this way participants become motivated to adopt effective strategies to address their biases and reject those proven to be ineffective.

Yvonne is very passionate about biases at work and shares her robust knowledge and experiences in this area to become better. Her session at the KSE Network's D&I virtual workshop was quite enriching; it was very practical and insightful and participants gave lots of positive feedback on how her session helped them identify and tackle their unconscious biases"
